10. b. Procurement of Foreign Maps

The establishment of a Foreign Service Geographic Attache position in Copenhagen brought to seven the number of such specialists assigned to foreign map procurement and reporting. As a result, the receipts of maps and mapping materials showed an increase during the year. Special procurement missions were conducted by the attaches in Iraq, Yugoslavia, and a number of Free World countries peripheral to the Soviet Bloc. Guidance in these map procurement activities, as well as those conducted by the covert services and Publications Procurement Officers in Bloc countries, continued to be given by the Inter-Agency Map Procurement Coordinating Committee, an informal body representing the intelligence and mapping agencies.
